Here is a brief Bio

Shawn Kennedy is a real estate investor and restraunteur. Originally from Springfield Massachusetts, Shawn attended Morehouse College on a United Negro Fund Scholarship, graduating summa cum laude with a bachelor's degree in Business. Moving to Charlotte just over 17 years ago, he was drawn to the opportunities in Charlotte and the region.

Four years ago, Shawn became interested in investing and becoming more involved in the Myrtle Beach community after purchasing a home and investment property there. Over the last two years the Kennedy family has been able to spend much more time in the community, resulting in his commitment to becoming more invested in the community.

Having played the trumpet his whole life, Shawn continues to be supportive of musicians and artists alike through his hospitality businesses and love of the arts, providing venues, events and income opportunities to musicians and artists alike.

With an appreciation for what his education has afforded him, he is working on projects to provide underserved communities and veterans with affordable housing and is growing his business to provide business opportunities to small business owners and entrepreneurs.

Shawn was accepted to nominated and accepted to the U.S. Naval Academy however, the scholarship opportunity at Morehouse College swayed his decision. His wife, Niya Kennedy currently serves in the U.S. Army as an auditor overseeing multiple operations. As a result, Shawn has a strong affinity to Veterans and those who serve in the Armed Forces.

Shawn is the founder of "Impact Camp" a 100% free weeklong summer camp for boys, focused on at risk young men. The camp is held at Johnson C. Smith University and draws over 250 boys each summer. Largely self-funded by Shawn and his close friends, the camp is run entirely by volunteers, including college students from Johnson C. Smith University, retired coaches, and local professionals.
